

An ornate stone archway serves as a frame for the text. The arch is carved from a textured, greyish-brown stone. At the top center, a small dragon with spread wings is perched. On the left side, a lion's head is carved in profile, facing left with its mouth open, showing sharp teeth. On the right side, another lion's head is carved in profile, facing right with its mouth open. The arch is supported by thick, rounded pillars on either side. The background within the arch is plain white.
